Assemblyman Norcross of Janesville made an effort to have the measure laid over to March 21. A measure laid over, in which the administration leaders strenuously opposed the Rock county assemblyman, referring to the experience of two years ago when the stalwarts controlled the senate and put off administration measures to March 21. Norcross complained that it was a time-honored courtesy that he was asking, but the vote was overwhelmingly against the delay. The Merton bill, to give married women a right to bring suit for damages for alienation of affections of their husband, was concurred in and now goes to the governor for approval.

TEN DIED IN A BAD ACCIDENT

Rear End Collision Near Pittsburg Results Fatally For Many---Fifty Hurt.

HOT BOX STOPPED FIRST SECTION

Second Special Crashes Into It---Death and Devastation Follow---Engine Plowed Through Pullman.

Pittsburg, March 4.—Ten persons are dead and fifty others were badly injured in a rear-end collision last night between two special inauguration passenger trains from Cleveland on the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago railroad, en route for Washington. The accident occurred eight miles from the city and was caused by the first special stopping for a hot box and the second section following it too closely.

Wreckage Takes Fire. The first train carried a battalion of the Ohio engineers. It was made up of six coaches and a baggage car. The second train, with the same number of cars, carried the Tippecanoe club of Cleveland, with a band and twenty-five or thirty women.

When the crash came the passengers in the rear car of the first train were the principal sufferers and all of the fatalities were in that car. The wreckage took fire from the engine and three cars of the first train and two of the second were burned.

New trains were made up and sent to the scene to bring the dead and injured here. At 10 o'clock a special bearing twelve of the badly injured reached Allegheny and were taken to the Allegheny general hospital. Among them are Maj. Joseph T. McQuigg, commanding the Royal battalion of Cleveland. Both of his thighs are broken and he is internally injured and probably will die.

The 12-year-old son of Capt. O. C. Pinney of Cleveland, one of the battalion of engineers, was killed. He is said to have been burned to death. His father is said to be quite seriously hurt.

Battalion Will Return Home. Capt. Charles E. Pope was the only officer of the engineers' battalion to escape injury and he will be in command of the battalion, which will return to Cleveland. The Tippecanoe club will continue its journey to Washington.

When roll call was made of the Tippecanoe club only two men were missing. They may be among the injured who were taken to the hospital at Rochester, Pa.

The engineer of the second train says the block signal showed a green light and his train went ahead at the rate of about forty-five or fifty miles an hour. When the impact came the engine of the second train plowed through the rear Pullman in which the officers were and half-way into the tourist car just ahead of it.

Great Race Between Kouropatkin and Japanese Generals to Be First to Reach the Railroads.

St. Petersburg, March 4.—Can Kouropatkin save his army? This is the sole question in St. Petersburg. It is known that Oku has turned Kouropatkin's right flank and is marching north toward Tie pass with 60,000 to 80,000 men.

It is known that Kuroki has turned the Russian left, and that he has crossed the Hun river; east of Pushun, and is working his way toward Tie pass.

On the south Nodzu's divisions are hammering away at Poutifor hill, the key to the Russian center.

It is admitted that Kouropatkin's entire army is retreating to Tie pass, forty miles north of Mukden. He must fight every step of the way. If Oku reaches the railroad ahead of him Kouropatkin must surrender or suffer untold losses in men and guns.

It is therefore a race between Kouropatkin, Oku, and Kuroki. Oku's men are close to the railroad. But it is feared he has a heavy force even farther north and that the railroad may be cut at any hour.

BIG HEN'S EGG TRIPLE FREAK

Two Smaller Ones Are Discovered Inside the Larger Spheroid.

Greely, Col., March 4.—The biggest thing in the way of a freak hen's egg, ever seen here was brought to the city by Mrs. John Emerson from Farmers' Spur. It is the size of a swan's egg, but otherwise perfectly formed. When the large shell was opened two other eggs were inside this, each perfect in form and of the ordinary size. These were not attached to the outer shell in any way, but were rolling about loose in their outer casing. There was but very little substance in either of the eggs opened.

PRISONER LEAPS FROM A CAR

Whitcomb, in Charge of Iowa Sheriff, Losens Shackles and Escapes.

Burlington, Iowa, March 4.—Handcuffed between two other prisoners, J. H. Whitcomb, under charge of Sheriff Canby of Council Bluffs, en route from Burlington to Fort Madison, Iowa, in some way got his handcuffs unfastened and jumped through the car window and escaped a few miles from here with the train under full headway. The train was stopped and a hasty search was made, but no traces of the escaped prisoner could be found. Whitcomb is an old circus performer.

SAN FRANCISCO POLICE ON THE QUI VIVE ONCE MORE

Claim That They Will Make Arrests In The Stanford Murder Case in A Few Hours.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPTS-M'RAE.] San Francisco, Cal., March 4.—It is stated on good authority that a bottle of strychnine has been found in the Stanford residence. The police announce they are now in possession of facts sufficient to warrant arrests and one suspect will be taken into custody in a few hours. The police say all the facts point to a member of the Stanford household as the poisoner. Positive evidence was secured yesterday that the soda water from which the fatal dose was taken was bought at a Palo Alto drugstore on Feb. 6. A Honolulu dispatch says the inquest over the body of Mrs. Stanford may be held today or delayed until Monday. No official announcement has been made of the discovery of strychnine in the stomach.

JAPANESE ARE ON THE MOVE AGAIN

Fighting Near Mukden Still Continues—Now at Vladivostok.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPTS-M'RAE.] Tokio, March 4.—It is announced today that the Japanese armies are fighting on the right center, and left wings and making steady gains. The Japanese have defeated the Russians at Shumulin. General Oku has captured for nine miles the Russian positions and is in sight of the bank of the Hun river. A flotilla of torpedo boats covered the landing.

BUMSTED-MARSTON WEDDING SERVICE

Performed at Home of Bride in Town of Gurtle on Wednesday Last.

Sixty-five guests attended the pretty home wedding of Edwin Bumsted and Miss Florence Marston at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. S. C. Marston, in the town of Turtle, Wednesday afternoon. The house was elaborately decorated in green and white for the occasion and promptly at three o'clock the strains of the Mendelssohn wedding march, played by Mrs. Robert Porter, announced the approach of the bridal party. The bride was attended by her two cousins, the Misses Lella Adams and Media Cutler and the groom by Messrs. Eugene Bumsted and Earl Myers. The bride was attired in a grey traveling gown with white silk waist and carried white carnations. Rev. Howard Hanson performed the ceremony before a bank of ferns and ivy, white primroses, and carnations. Just as the ceremony closed someone pulled a string which opened a bag of rice suspended above the heads of the bridal pair and a shower of the white grain engulfed them. After a luncheon had been served at small tables the happy couple departed for Dundee and Elgin, Ill., where they will spend a short honeymoon. Upon returning they will go to house-keeping on the Everett Wilkins farm. The groom is a son of G. F. Banister. He has lived in the town of Turtle about five years, returning from army service in the Philippines but a few years ago. The bride is a very popular young lady both in the town and county.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE PUBLIC

PERTINENT QUESTIONS RELATIVE TO POOR COMMISSIONER.

SHOULD THE COUNCIL ACT?

Correspondent Asks That the Matter
Be Looked Into by the Council.

To the Editor: There is a condition of affairs existing in Janesville that should be thoroughly aired. I feel as though the columns of the Gazette should discuss this matter and in order that you may fully understand the situation, would like to say as briefly as possible what I mean and you can make use of the information as you see fit. The condition is just this: If a stranger should drop dead in the streets or should be taken suddenly ill any person taking charge of him and ordering medical aid without the authority of the poor commissioner, does so at his own risk. Any surgeon or physician who attends him in his emergency does so at his own risk of payment, unless ordered to do so by the poor commissioner. Any ambulance or wagon that picks up the dead body or sick or injured man cannot expect to be paid unless it was ordered done by the poor commissioner. I am talking, of course, cases where the sufferer or dead person is indigent and has no friends to pay or estate to collect from. Why should this state of affairs exist?

Pays Its Share
The city of Janesville pays its share, yes, more than its share of the expenses of the county poor. In the last year the city has paid into the county treasury for aid for the poor as her proportion, $4,600. This sum was divided as follows:

City paid to county for poor fund out of license money under chapter 417, laws of 1898, $2,500.

The county levied on the city of Janesville for soldiers' fund under chapter 63A, $800.

The county levied last year $6,000 for the poor fund under section 1519 of the statutes, of which the city of Janesville paid $1,250.

This makes the total sum of $4,610 as Janesville's share alone. I merely give these figures to show that Janesville pays more than its share of care for the poor of the county. What does it get in return? I am sure that if the whole four thousand six hundred and ten dollars were expended in care for the city of Janesville's poor and suffering it would not be wrong. It is a fact that the poor flock to the cities and larger towns. A poor family cannot stay on the farm in the country. Hence Janesville, as the largest city in the county, has its just share of these unfortunate. I do not think that under the existing circumstances Janesville is getting its share of attention.

The Laws
To further explain my position I would like to quote from the statutes on this question from chapter 63, section 1498, laws of 1898, under the caption "Towns to Support." "Every town shall relieve and support all poor and indigent persons lawfully settled therein whenever they shall stand in need thereof, except as hereinafter provided." Section 1520 of the same chapter provides for the election of superintendents of the poor: "Whenever the distinction between county poor and town poor shall have been so abolished in any county the county board may elect by ballot county superintendents of the poor for not less than one year and not more than three, as said county board shall determine, subject to removal by said board on any meeting thereof and all vacancies shall be filled by county board in said manner, etc." Section 1522 relates to the rules and duties of this office and states they are subject to the county board and that the rules they make are subject to the approval of said board.

Further Powers
Section 1524 further limits the power of the superintendent. It relates directly to the care and aid for old soldiers and others which come under this class. I have quoted the above laws to give you a clear understanding of what the duty of the superintendent of the poor really is. He is chosen by the county board, and subject to the supervision of the county board. Under the existing laws the city is not responsible for any bills incurred for care of sick or injured indigent persons. It cannot maintain a room in the Palmer hospital without special appropriation from the county and the city has no authority to appropriate for this purpose. If a person is taken seriously ill, so ill that it is a question of life or death, and it is deemed necessary to take him to the hospital to save his life, the poor commission must be sought out, his permission received and then the long trip to the county hospital begun. Supposing the county superintendent is out of the city or cannot be found, what then? Such things have happened. I know of two cases where injured persons were cared for by ambulance and otherwise, emergency cases cases where the superintendent refuses to pay the bills because he did not order them.

A Remedy
There must be a remedy to such a state of affairs. Is the council powerless to act or what measures should be taken to insure better service and care for the city poor? I, for one, think that in view of the fact Janesville pays such a large sum as their proportion of the care of the county poor, it should have better attention than now exists. Is it not possible to have some arrangements made between the city and the superintendent of the poor so that in case of accidents or sudden illness, an ambulance can be called, medical aid summoned and the patient cared for without so much red tape? I think this is a matter that should be attended to. Janesville pays for the care of its sick and the poor, the deserving poor, should be aided without endless red tape which now surrounds the poor commissioner's office. Some arrangements should be made, so he can be easily reached, so that he can be found when desired without needless delay. "INFORMATION."

the field today, will speak at the morning and evening services at the Central Methodist church tomorrow. At seven o'clock tomorrow evening a special song service will be held, at which Miss Nichols, who has a splendid contralto voice, will act as leader. Miss Nichols comes to Janesville for two weeks and will hold services each evening and twice on Sunday until the 10th. She has been in many of the large churches in Ohio where great revivals have attended her work. She is in demand all over the country and the Central church is fortunate in securing her services. Miss Nichols is a charming speaker and has a ripe experience. She is magnetic and has a charming personality, always finding a sympathetic audience. When asked the secret of her success, she said: "Faith in God and His Son, Jesus Christ. I have but one message, 'Jesus died for sinners and all men are sinners.'" Miss Nichols has a strong hold over wayward girls in whom she is greatly interested. She is possessed of a strange power of swaying her audiences and her meetings will doubtless be well attended.

The fourth annual state athletic meeting will be held on the evening of March 9. The events will be: basketball, twenty-yard dash, three standing broad jumps, twelve-pound shot, running high jump, pole vault and mile relay race (four men).

WILLIAM GRIMES AN OLD SETTLER

Came to Rock County in 1837 and
Has Made His Home Here Ever Since.

William Grimes is perhaps one of the oldest settlers in Rock county now living. He was born in Keene, New Hampshire, on Dec. 25th, 1815, and came west to Beloit in 1837 and has since made his home in this country. When he came to Rock county there was no organization, no justice of the peace, no railways nearer than Buffalo, New York, and only two in the whole United States. There was no postoffice in the county and the settlers walked to Roscoe to secure their mail. They had to pay twenty-five cents postage in those days and did not write many letters, although they often thought of their relatives in the east. Mr. Grimes learned the Indian dialect and was able to converse with the natives. In those days persons who borrowed money paid twenty-five per cent interest and sold their wheat for fifty cents a bushel.

and the church for hauling it to Racine for shipment, costing twenty-five cents extra. There were no fences, no bridges and ox teams were used. In 1845 he pre-empted a farm in the town of Avon. Mr. Grimes remembers Janesville when there was only one house, a double loghouse, in which John P. Dixon lived in one part and Charles Stevens in the other. He was also a delegate to the first convention to nominate candidates for the legislature, the meeting being held in a grove halfway between Janesville and Beloit, and E. V. Whiting presiding. He was also a member of the first jury ever drawn in the county and the sessions of the court were held in a building which stood where the Myers house now stands. It was a two-story frame structure. Mr. Grimes was married in 1843 to Miss Esther Crosby and they lived together for nearly sixty years before her sad demise. When Mr. Grimes moved to the town of Avon these were both families lived there and only two families lived there and these were both named Crosby. Mr. Crosby was a mason by trade and he built many of the first brick buildings in the county. He also worked on the first brick building in Madison, which was used as a hotel afterwards. For many years he knew every person in Rock county personally. On the 23d of February, 1893, he and his good wife, whose picture is shown above, celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary. Two children were born of this union and both survive—Mrs. Tom Cox of Shopshire and William Grimes of Avon.

OLD FOGY TALKS "ONCE MORE YET"

HAS SOMETHING TO SAY REGARDING SPRING FLOODS.

THE GOVERNMENT MORGUE

New Policemen Appointed—Are Satisfactory to the Public—Other Gossip.

To the Editor:
As predicted the spring freshet has come. In fact it comes every year, sometimes a little later and sometimes earlier. There are places in the city, especially some cross walks, that remind me of the good old war days when I tramped down with my aakle deep loaded down with my equipment. There are some queer features about mud. Virginia seemed to have the most sticking quality, but I have found just as bad right here in Janesville. The conditions that exist are not however, due to the carelessness of the street department. It can be traced back directly to the property owners who fail to clean their sidewalks during the winter and allow the ice to melt off and run down to a level as best the streams can. If the ordinance providing that the sidewalks be kept clean was enforced then the great discomforts of the spring months would be done away with. Now that the spring thaw has come the unsightly ashes which have been dumped in the streets despite an ordinance to the contrary begin to show and in many cases they have been washed down from hill sides onto cross walks, making the ways of the pedestrians indeed hard. Another laxity of city ordinances.

New Policemen
Last Saturday I wrote regarding the appointment of more police officers. Sunday morning I learned that R. J. Bear had been appointed. This with the appointment of Tom Morrissey makes two out of the number to be appointed already selected. Mr. Bear is an unknown quantity as a police officer yet. He doubtless will develop into a good man. His father served the county faithfully as sheriff in 1893 and 1894 and has since served as a member of the county board and held other offices of trust. It is to be hoped that the younger Bear will develop into as strong a man as his father. Tom Morrissey, we know, He has been tried and found to be an able and efficient officer. He does not go to sleep on his post and has proven his worth on several occasions. Thus far no objections can be found to the appointments made. May the rest be as good is the hope of citizens interested in city affairs.

City Politics
There does not seem to be the usual scramble for city offices this spring as in the past. The primary law is not yet fully understood. Its great benefits have led to materialize as predicted and while it may develop, still the outlook is doubtful. It will cost the city as much to hold the primaries as it did to have the election last fall and there is but small doubt in my mind that the real purposes of the bill when it was talked of for a law will be lost entirely and the election machinery merely complicated by its existence. However that remains to be seen. I find, however, that few people who sign nomination papers really understand that they are pledging themselves to vote for the individual whose papers they sign. It is a written pledge and should be as binding as a note signed and duly executed.

Important Items
Once more the postoffice. The official government morgue. This time I am not indulging in rhapsodies over the mail service. However I do not suppose that anything I may say or write will change the present state of affairs. Nothing short of a revolution would wake up the Janesville post office department to something like good service. Civil service reform may be a good thing but as applied to Janesville it is a fizzle. I would hate to think that there is any other city the size of Janesville that makes the pretenses that Janesville does of being cosmopolitan that would stand for such a service, lighting and all. But enough. An eruption of Mr. Pelee is not possible and nothing short of that would aid us at the present time.

Secretary Adams Denies Report
Caused by His Recent Trip
To Sioux City.
Secretary F. W. Adams of the St. Paul road recently made a short business trip for the company to Sioux City, Ia., which gave rise to a newspaper report from Chicago that the secretary had gone there for the purpose of closing up certain important matters in connection with a right-of-way preliminary to beginning work upon an extension of the St. Paul road to the Pacific coast. In reference to this report Secretary Adams says: "I went to Sioux City in reference to an old right-of-way question. I did not stay there more than two hours; the total interest involved in the question was $1,500, and I never heard of the extension to the Pacific coast, either before I went out, while there, or since, except what I read in the Chicago papers that it was fixing up the matter. The story has not the least foundation in fact, in so far as my Sioux City trip was concerned."

Railway Gossip
The Burlington has decided to run a seed and corn special through northwest Nebraska the middle of March. The trip will occupy one week.

Steps which are being taken to connect the Big Four and the Indiana Harbor roads by a direct line through the extension of the Big Four road from Danville, Ill., to Harrisdale, Ill., are declared to be the first move on the part of the Vanderbilt interests to become an important factor in the coal traffic from the Illinois and the Iowa coal mines to Chicago.

The amount of traffic being secured by the new line of the Wabash from Pittsburg to Mingo Junction is so heavy that the management has decided to commence immediately to double track the line. The distance from Pittsburg to Mingo Junction, where the Wabash connects with the Wheeling & Lake Erie, is about sixty-five miles. Important improvements will also be made on the Wheeling & Lake Erie.

A plan to provide a homestead for every railroad employe after the system which has been tried and met with success upon several railroads in France is now being considered by some of the leading railroad men in this country. It is contended by those favoring the adoption of the plan in this country that its execution would prevent strikes, would more closely affiliate the employes with the railroad and would gradually break up many questions in controversy which now constantly arise and trouble railroad officials. Chairman B. F. Younk of the Frisco system is taking the lead in putting the plan into effect. The plan is that the road owning lands along the tributary to its line will sell to its employes five or ten acres of ground, as they may desire, supplied with water. The plan provides fully for the protection of the employes so that in the event of the death of an employe in good standing while in the service of the road the land is to be deeded to his wife or family.

Engineer A. R. Gridley is on the sick list.

Fireman R. M. Ashton is off for a few weeks and will go to work in the country. Fireman B. W. Van Dyke has taken his place on the Barrington turn-around.

R. P. Kay returned to work on switch-engine number 1043 this morning after a few days' absence.

Among those who received runs by application, according to a recent bulletin, are: F. A. Schmidly, engine number 523, on freight runs numbers 51 and 52 between Fond du Lac and Janesville, with a lay-over here; F. H. Storm, engine number 210, on freight trains 22 and 23, between Fond du Lac and Belvidere; C. F. Miller, engine number 1095, on passenger runs numbers 2 and 3, between Green Bay and Milwaukee; and H. Adair, who at one time lived here, engine number 738, on freight trains numbers 51 and 52 between Fond du Lac and Janesville, with a lay-over here.

While cleaning the rubbish from around the boiler in the cellar of the passenger depot, as had been ordered by the superintendent to insure better fire protection, Bridge Foreman Ellis found what he thought at first were two old puncture frames. They were completely covered with whitewash, having received a coat of it a number of years ago when the cellar was whitewashed. In cleaning the frames it was discovered that they were two enlarged photographs of people, probably sixty or sixty-five years old, presumably man and wife. Mr. Ellis has exhibited them to a number of people, but no one thus far has been able to identify them. The supposition is that these were lost as baggage by some passenger or left in the depot and not being called for were taken to the cellar and there thrown in with the rubbish. Mr. Ellis is still looking for a claimant.

George L. Moss, president of the Wisconsin State Epworth league, completed arrangements with the North-Western road for a special train to carry the Wisconsin delegation to the international convention of the Epworth league, which will be held at Denver, Col., in July. It is expected that between 300 and 400 members will go to the convention from this state. They will gather at Milwaukee and the special train probably will leave the North-Western depot, Milwaukee, at 4 o'clock on the afternoon of July 3. The train will run solid through to Denver.

GREAT AMOUNT OF FREIGHT MOVING

Terminal Ends Blocked in Cold
Weather, Now Being Cleared—
Spring Shipments.

Freight departments of all roads throughout the northern half of the United States and all of Canada are exceedingly busy at the present time. There are two conditions responsible for this. Now is the time of the year when spring orders for all manners of mercantile goods are being filled and shipped and the regular amount of business shows an increase over previous months. The other cause for the present large amount of traffic is that during the cold weather which lasted several weeks the freight traffic over the main lines was practically tied up and very few cars were taken to their destination, though more were being loaded at nearly every station, small or large, daily. These were carried to the terminal points of the different divisions and lines and there left awaiting the resumption of normal traffic conditions. The commencement of pleasant weather found the yards at the terminals filled and blocked and all this amount of rolling stock had to be carried to its destination. This work of delivering is still going on and the terminal ends are now beginning to become open. Not for many years has traffic been so badly blocked and the amount of freight at the corresponding time of the year been so large.

Important Questions... Answered.

Why Should I Secure A Practical Education?

Because success in any calling depends upon the application of business principles. Because it is the most direct route to success. Because the rewards of the world are given to those who can do the world's business in a businesslike manner.

How Shall I Secure the Training?

Not by experience—it is too costly. Not by entering some office where instruction will be haphazard, but by attending a thoroughly reliable business training school where business is taught as practiced, which has modern methods and first-class equipment.

When Should I Commence A Course?

The sooner you start the longer you will have to enjoy the fruits of your efforts. In getting an education, every day you postpone is a risk. Time and opportunity wait for no man. There are no exceptions to this rule.

Where Is The Best Place To Secure A Practical Education?

In a school that shows, what it is, by what it has done; one having a reputation for thoroughness, and whose students are its best advertisements. To get the best results, use the best facilities. In education, only the best is good enough, and you can get the best at our college.

NEWS FOR THE PLAY-GOERS

The much heralded, much praised, and immensely popular Paula Edwards at present the only female star touring in musical comedy, the rival for fame and quarts of De Wolf Hopper, Lillian Russell, Francis Wilson and other more or lesser lights of the musical stage, a comedienne of pronounced versatility and in every sense of the word a "success" in all the term applies, will appear at the Myers Grand, Wednesday, March 8th in the musical offering of "Winnome Winnie." Miss Edwards comes under the management of Mr. Sam S. Shubert, with the original New York Casino production, always an now so much in vogue and demanded by American audiences. Miss Paula Edwards has a role that fits her like a glove. Few women of the musical stage have succeeded in comedy roles yet Paula Edwards is credited with a distinct hit in this line of work. She is "Winnome Winnie" from rise 'till fall of curtain enthusing the audience with the abundance and daintiness of her humor and charming them with her wit and winning personality. "Winnome Winnie" and Paula Edwards will undoubtedly prove one of the events of the theatrical year and already the demand for seats is so large that an

The chorus is said to be exceedingly attractive in looks, while the gowns and wardrobe are claimed to be marvels of good taste, richness of material and exquisite effect. "Winnome Winnie" enjoyed a highly successful run at the New York Casino last season and was pronounced by the entire New York press as one of the most enjoyable and superbly mounted musical productions of the season. The same presentation will be given intact in this city which delighted New York last year.

"Winnome Winnie" is the product of the same authors as "Erminie," and seems destined to reach even greater popularity. It has been considerably Americanized by Gustav Kerker and Fred Ranken, the musical numbers of the former giving it a life and vim, a swing and a stir audience of huge proportions is sure to greet her.

BEGGAR PRINCE

In that refreshing comic opera is combined all the elements of a genuine entertainment. An interesting story hinging on the trials and tribulations of the Beggar Prince and abounding in catchy music, pretty dances and witty dialogue serves to introduce a capable company of which Miss Etra Morris, the clever comedienne is a leading member. There is no villain, no crime, no suggestion of evil, just fun and plenty of it. A newspaper man after witnessing a performance of this play remarked "It leaves you with a pleasant taste in your mouth and a feeling of happiness and good will to all man kind." At the Myers Grand Saturday, March 11, Matinee and night.

LENTEN REGULATIONS ISSUED BY ARCHBISHOP

1. All Fridays and fast-days during the year are days of abstinence from flesh meat. On Saturdays, which by law are also days of abstinence, flesh meat is allowed by apostolic indulgent at all meals, unless they happen to be fast-days.

2. The following are fast-days of obligation. All days of Lent (except Sundays) are fast-days; the Vigils or Eves of Pentecost, of the Assumption of Blessed Virgin Mary, of All Saints, and of Christmas; lastly, the Fridays of Advent.

On fast-days only one full meal a day is allowed to persons obliged to fast. But indult and custom allow coffee, tea, chocolate, and the use of bread in the morning, and the use of eggs, butter, milk, etc., in the evening. For sufficient reason, the collection (lunch) may be taken at noon and the dinner or principal meal in the evening.

During Lent, by apostolic indult, flesh-meat is allowed only at the principal meal on week days, except all Wednesdays and Fridays and also the Saturdays in Ember week (March 13) and holy week (April 22). On fast-days, flesh-meat and fish (including oysters, crabs, frogs, turtles, etc.) are never allowed at the same meal, a rule which applies even to the Sundays in Lent and to all persons however otherwise excused or dispensed from the law of either abstinence or fast. But meals may always be prepared with the drippings of either fat or lard.

Persons excused from fast may use flesh-meat more than once on the days when it is allowed at all.

Catholics having attained the sufficient use of reason are bound by law of abstinence. But when it is either physically or morally impossible to observe the law, or when it would entail serious difficulties, they are excused from it.

In virtue of the apostolic faculties granted us by the holy see we hereby

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT.

Scattered all over the south are little churches occupied by the colored people, where the gospel is dispensed in its simplicity, to say the least. Many of these church edifices are inexpensive and the style of architecture is peculiar to the south. They are small frame buildings, frequently standing on a block foundation, and on the ending, facing the street, a spire six or eight feet square, starts from the ground and tapers to a peak a few feet above the roof.

The inside of this spire serves as a pulpit where the colored divine, well elevated above his little audience, hammers the Bible and waxes eloquent. The churches, like all buildings occupied by the negroes, are unpainted and weather-beaten.

A southern traveling man said the other day: "When I was a boy I always had to go to church, and as the folks were not particular where I went, I usually attended the colored church in our neighborhood."

The preacher was an illiterate old negro, but full of good sense and enthusiasm. I shall never forget a sermon he preached one morning on "The Prodigal Father." The old Bible was open on the little desk before him, and bringing his hand down upon it he said:

"My brodders and sisters, my text dis mornin am somewhere between de lids of dis old book; I don jes remember whar, but it is about de prodigal fader whar hed two sons."

"One of em was a very bad boy, and de oder was mos too good. De bad boy didn't like for go to school, and he was that shiftless that he was no good on de farm."

"Byme by when he growed to be a young man he dint like the dull life on the farm, and one day he went to his fader and say unto him, 'Fader I want to go out and see de world for myself, will you give me the portion of money dat is comin' to me' and his fader, being a prodigal fader said he would, so he sold his hogs and his cattle and got de money to gader as best he could and de young man bot a new trunk and some swell close and took a journey into a far country whar he dint know anybody."

"He stop at a good hotel in a big city, and live high, and soon he had so many friends dat he dint know which he like de best. He spend his money for wine and whiskey and went wid bad women and he was de mos popularist young man in de town."

"One day when de landlord ask him for his board he find dat his money was all gone and he had'n anything to show for it but a bad taste in his mouf, so he started out to find a job of work, but he dint know how to do anything, so no man would hire him. Den he wander out in de country jes like a tramp and finally he come to a big farm house and de farmer give him a job of feed-in hogs."

"After he got em fed he sit on de fence and see em eat, and he was dat hungry dat he would fein have fill his belly wid de husks dat de hogs didn't eat, and while he sot dere he got to thinkin about de fader and de ole home, and he say to hisself 'how many hired men of my fader's has more bread dan dey can eat and I perish wid hunger, den he come to hisself and say: 'I will arise and go to my fader and will say unto him: Fader I have sinned against heaven, and in thy sight and am no more wordy to be call dy son, make me one of dy hired men and I will be good.'"

"So he clim down from de fence and start to walk across de country to de ole home. His fader was out by de gate one mornin and he look down de road and he see a man all ragged and dirty comin, and he say to hisself, 'dat look like George, but it can't be him' den he look again and he say it is George shore enuf, and he open de gate and run down de road to meet him, and he put his arms around his neck and kiss him and say: 'My son, my son, whar you been and how come you so?'"

"An George say: 'Fader I have been a bad boy and am no more wordy to be call dy son, jes make me as one of dy hired man and give me something to eat, for I am mos starve.'"

"Den his fader forgive him and took him to de house and give him a bath and a new suit of close, and put a ring on his finger and went singin around de house, 'My son was died and is alive again, he was los an is found, and he was so happy dat he went out and killed a fat calf and prepared to have a feast."

"An he sent one of de hired men out to invite in de neighbors, and dey all dint like George very well and dey thought his fader was an ole fool for him so prodigal, and so dey all wid one consent began to make excuse."

"De first one say: 'I have bot a piece of land and must go today and see, I pray do have me excuse,' an de secon one say: 'I have bot a yoke of oxen and must go and drive em home, excuse me.' An anoder one say: 'I have married a wife and of course I can't come.'"

"So de hired man went back and tole all de excuses, and de fader was dat mad dat he say to him, 'go out in de by ways and heges and drive in all de tramps and beggars dat my house may be full, for dis, my son was dead an is alive agin, he was los and it foun'."

"So he went out and brot in de beggars and poor people, and one beggar's name was Lazarus and he had a dorg, whose name was Moreover. An Lazarus was all covered with sores and Moreover used to come and lick de sores. Now Lazarus and Moreover came to de feast, and Moreover did eat de crumbs under de masters' table."

"An dey had a band to play music, an while dey was all havin a good time de oldest son Ben, same out of de field, and when he hear de music an dancin he say to one of de hired men: 'Whar's all dis about?' and de man say: 'Why George has got home and your fader kill de fated calf and make a feast for him.'"

"Den Ben got so mad he wouldn't go in and his fader came out and talk to him, an say: 'come in Ben an rejoice wid me for your brudder which was dead is alive agin, he was los and it foun'."

"But Ben wouldn't go and he say, 'I always been good and stay home an work all de time, yet you never give me a kid dat I make merry wid my friends, and he went out behind de barn an swore because his brudder come home.'"

"An my brudders an sisters, dese two boys was not to blame. Dey had a prodigal fader, who dint know how to bring up boys, and I am afraid dat some of you is prodigal faders."

Some of your boys is dat good for nothin dat dey will never amount to nothin. You ought to be more keeful about your boys. Brudder Jones will now take de collection. Don miss de visitors in de back seat."

The old brother was a little mixed on chronology, but his theology was all right.

When the editors of the state get through with the framer and introducer of the bill aimed at the proprietary medicine companies it can be said that Wisconsin press "done Noble."

The way Gas Addicks of Delaware passed is the same manner in which the Noble bill will pass.

The senator who introduced the bill to compel all patent medicine companies to print their formulas on their products is a Noble boy in the eyes of the doctors only.

PRESS COMMENT.

Milwaukee Sentinel: Judge Swayne is not guilty, but he is expected to behave himself in the future.

Oshkosh Northwestern: Janesville claims to have unearthed "a second Hoch." It is now up to the Appleton prevaricator to unearth one of his wives.

Philadelphia Inquirer: La Follette is said to have declared war on Roosevelt because of the Quarles nomination. It is doubtful if the president ever finds it out.

Chicago Record-Herald: One of the encouraging signs of the times is found in the fact that it is necessary to get up a benefit for a "German dialect artist."

Cincinnati Inquirer: The country will be greatly disappointed if Senator Spooner and Governor La Follette settle down in every day amiable relations in Washington.

Topeka State Journal: Chicago is experiencing a new sensation. Another name than that of Carter Harrison appears at the head of the democratic city ticket.

Chicago Tribune: It is useless, perhaps, to remind the man who drops a slug instead of a nickel into the public telephone at a drug store that he is cheating the druggist and not the telephone company.

Marquette Eagle and Star: How much more quietly might Buffalo Bill have lived if he had confined his efforts to scalping the noble red man instead of getting his hands in the hair of Cupid!

Racine Journal: Cumberland is the latest Wisconsin municipality to accept a Carnegie library building and obligate itself to raise an annual tax. The building will cost $10,000, and the annual appropriation is to be $1,000.

La Crosse Chronicle: From a financial point of view, Governor La Follette will lose by becoming senator La Follette. The salary is the same, but Uncle Sam does not furnish houses.

La Crosse Leader-Press: A deal just made at Chippewa Falls shows Wisconsin's pine lands have not been entirely devoted to their timber. A tract of 40,000 acres of timber has just been sold by the Weyerhaeuser interests to the Stewart and Yawkey interests of Wausau and Hazelhurst for a consideration of one and a half million dollars. When deals of that magnitude in timber can still be made Wisconsin must have some large forests left.

ROOSEVELT IS NOW PRESIDENT

dent Fairbanks took his oath of office. The senate chamber was crowded with an interested audience and the desks of the members were piled high with flowers sent by admiring friends. Immediately after accepting the office the new senators were sworn into office and the new session of the senate was called to order to pass upon all appointments which had not been confirmed by the old senate. Vice President Fairbanks said in his address:

Fairbanks' Speech
"I enter upon the discharge of the duties of my position, to which I have been called by my countrymen, with a grateful appreciation of the high honor and a deep sense of its responsibility. I have enjoyed the privileges of serving with you here for eight years and during that period we have been engaged in the consideration of many domestic questions of vast importance and with foreign problems of unusual and far-reaching significance. We submit what we have done to the impartial judgment of history. We today witness the majestic spectacle of a peaceful, orderly beginning of an administration of national affairs under the laws of a free and self-governing people. We pray that divine favor may attend its progress, justice and honor may abide with our country and with our countrymen."

Roosevelt Sworn In
At sharp one o'clock Chief Justice Fuller gave the oath to President Theodore Roosevelt in the presence of thousands of people, who had come from all parts of the United States to be present. Immediately after the ceremony and the inaugural address President Roosevelt was driven back to the white house, where Vice President Fairbanks was a guest. At two-forty-five the parade started and it did not end until five-thirty, when it passed the reviewing stand. Never has such a display been shown in Washington. President Roosevelt said in his inaugural address:

President's Speech
My Fellow Citizens:
No people on earth have more cause to be thankful than ours, and this is said reverently, in no spirit of boastfulness in our strength, but with gratitude to the Giver of Good who has blessed us with the conditions which have enabled us to achieve so large a measure of well-being and of happiness. To us as a people it has been granted to lay the foundation of our national life in a new continent. We are the heirs of the ages, and yet we have had to pay few of the penalties which in old countries are exacted by the dead hand of a bygone civilization. We have not been obliged to fight for our existence against any alien race; and yet our life has called for the vigor and effort without which the milder and harder virtues wither away. Under such conditions it would be our own fault if we failed; and the success which we have had in the past, the success which we should cause in us no feeling of vain glory, but rather a deep and abiding realization of all which life has offered us; a full acknowledgment of the responsibility which is ours; and a fixed determination to show that under a free government a mighty people can thrive best, alike as regards the things of the body and the things of the soul."

Much has been given to us, and much will rightfully be expected from us. We have duties to others and duties to ourselves; and we can shrink neither. We have become a great nation, forced by the fact of its greatness into relations with the other nations of the earth; and we must become as becomes a people with such responsibilities. Toward all other nations, large and small, our attitude must be one of cordial and sincere friendship. We must show not only in our words but in our deeds that we are earnestly desirous of securing their good will by acting toward them in a spirit of just and generous recognition of all their rights. But justice and generosity in a nation, as in an individual, count most when shown not by the weak but by the strong. While ever careful to refrain from wronging others, we must be no less insistent that we are not wronged ourselves. We wish peace; but we wish the peace of justice, the peace of righteousness. We wish it because we think it is right and not because we are afraid. No weak nation that acts manfully and justly should ever have cause to fear us, and no strong power should ever single us out as a subject for insolent aggression.

Our relations with the other powers of the world are important; but still more important are our relations among ourselves. Such growth in wealth, in population, and in power as this nation has seen during the century and a quarter of its national life is inevitably accompanied by a like growth in the problems which are ever before every nation that rises to greatness. Power invariably means both responsibility and danger. Our forefathers faced certain perils the very existence of which it was impossible that they should foresee. Modern life is both complex and intense, and the tremendous changes wrought by the extraordinary industrial development of the last half century are felt in every fiber of our social and political being. Never before have men tried so vast and formidable an experiment as that of administering the affairs of a continent under the forms of a democratic republic. The conditions which have led to our marvelous material well-being, which have developed to a very high degree our energy, self-reliance, and individual initiative, have also brought the care and anxiety inseparable from the accumulation of great wealth in industrial centers. Upon the success of our experiment much depends; not only as regards our own welfare, but as regards the welfare of mankind. If we fail, the cause of free self-government throughout the world will rock to its foundations; and therefore our responsibility is heavy, to ourselves, to the world as it is today, and to the generation yet unborn. There is no good reason why we should fear the future, but there is every reason why we should face it seriously, neither hiding from ourselves the gravity of the problems before us, nor fearing the approach of these problems with the unbecoming, unfinching purpose to solve them aright.

Yet, after all, though the problems are new, though the tasks set before us differ from the tasks set before our fathers who founded and preserved this Republic, the spirit in which these tasks must be undertaken and these problems faced; if our duty is to be well done remains essentially unchanged. We know that self-government is difficult. We know that no people needs such high traits of character as that people which seeks to govern its affairs aright through the freely expressed will of the free man who composes it. But we have faith that we shall not prove false to the memories of the men of the mighty past. They did their work, they left us the splendid heritage we now enjoy. We in our turn have an assured confidence that we shall be able to leave this heritage unwasteful and enlarged to our children and children's children. To do so we must show, not merely in great crises, but in every-day affairs of life, the qualities of practical intelligence, of courage, of hardihood and endurance, and above all the power of devotion to a lofty ideal, which made great the men who founded this republic in the days of Washington, which made great the men who preserved this republic in the days of Abraham Lincoln.

4947 BOOKS DRAWN DURING FEBRUARY

Report of Public Library—Increase Over January—Less Fiction Read.

Circulation of books from the public library increased during the month of February. During the first month of the year 4947 books were drawn from the institution and during the second month, 5047, an increase of 257. The daily average for February was 215 and for January 187, an increase of 28. Of the number of books taken out in February, 2068 were from the main library and 1879 from the children's room, an increase over the January record for the former of 29, and for the latter, 228. In January 2678 books of fiction were obtained from the main library and in February there were 2603, showing a decrease of 75. Another noticeable thing about the report for the month is the large per cent of fiction that is read, 78 per cent of the books drawn being of this class. The report for February is appended:

GROWERS ADVISED TO CONTRACT NOW

BY EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF BEET ASSOCIATION.

CONTRACTS WILL STIPULATE

Weighing and Taring at Stations Where 200 Acres Are Delivered Big Mass Meeting Boon.

Dr. J. H. Burdick of Milton Junction, president of the Rock County Beet-growers' association, J. B. Humphrey of Alton, F. H. Bemis, W. T. Olsen of Stoughton, C. I. Heggard of Orlinville, T. Decker of Beloit, and John Collins of Porter, comprising the executive committee of the organization, met yesterday to consider the further negotiations that had been made with the sugar factory management and as a result of their conference, the following statement, signed by Secretary Bemis, was issued this morning:

Weighing and Taring Clause
"Beet-growers take notice—that at a meeting of the executive committee on Friday, March 3, we were given assurance that the Rock County Sugar Co. will print the clause, providing for the weighing and taring of beets at stations where 200 or more acres are delivered, in the contract, and also pay 25 cents additional for beets delivered on wagon at the factory, but will grant no further concessions this season. Captain Davidson, however, requests us to take the matter up with him earlier next fall and if the season is as profitable as it now looks he can do more for us then."

Advise Signing of Contracts
"The Wisconsin Sugar Co. has granted no concessions, as yet, but will not doubt now do so as a matter of policy. Your committee would now advise the signing of contracts where the clause as to weighing stations is included and the doing of the best we can this season under the said clause. A grand mass-meeting of growers will be called in Janesville as soon as speakers are secured and the program made out." (Signed) F. H. Bemis, secretary.

Outlook for Good Season
It is understood that this meeting will be called on March 16 or thereabouts if arrangements can be made, and that addresses will be delivered by experts from the agricultural experiment station and prominent beet-growers from without the state. Harmony between the grower and the manufacturer is apparently restored and the outlook for the season is unusually good. The Rock County Sugar Co. is understood already has contracts for 5,000 acres of which 1,100 were brought in yesterday, and the full 6,000 will probably be secured within the next few weeks. Racine business men and 200 farmers are considering the project of forming a $500,000 stock company and building a factory this spring. LaPlante's Myers of the local concern was called there in consultation Wednesday.

THROWS LIGHT ON THE DOG EPISODE

Says There Was No Intent To Steal on Part of the Tiff Boy—'Twas Stray Animal.

The following communication with reference to an article appearing in yesterday's paper, was received this morning:

Janesville, March 4, '05.

Gazette Office:

I read your paper the item of the Tiff boy stealing a dog, which does a great injustice to a young boy, and may be the means of discouraging the boy and sending him on a downward course. I do not know any one of the family to speak to, but they lived near us and we know the circumstances. The dog was a stray dog around here for quite a while and even we, ourselves, were pestered with the dog. We could not open the door but what he was in the house and into all sorts of mischief and one family had him tied up to get a reward if offered. A young boy in the neighborhood who had kept the dog a good deal, gave the dog to this boy as his folks would not let him keep it, they having dogs of their own. As the Tiff family was going from the city they would naturally take the dog with them. I know they had no intention of stealing the dog as they had a dog of their own. I think some correction should be made in justice to the young boys.

ASSESSORS HELD ANNUAL MEETING

Yearly Meeting in Madison Well Attended by Supervisors of Assessment.

Supervisor of Assessment F. P. Starr returned yesterday from Madison where he has been in attendance at the annual meeting of the supervisors of assessment. The meeting was well attended and was addressed by Norman S. Gilson, Geo. Curtis and Nils P. Haugen, commissioners of assessment. Informal discussions of various questions and topics relating to the duties of assessing officers and the work of supervisors were indulged in by the supervisors of assessment, the result being that every member present felt that he was well paid for being there and came away not only enthusiastic, but with a clearer knowledge of their respective duties and felt that they were better qualified to discharge them. The assembly committee on assessment and collection of taxes of which A. H. Dahl is chairman, took advantage of the annual meeting of the supervisors of assessment and invited seven of the members to meet four bills before the assembly which affect the duties, powers, salary, etc., of the supervisors of assessment. F. P. Starr was appointed as one of the seven to meet with the assembly committee. Many questions were asked and the committee expressed themselves as being well satisfied with the information obtained.

PAUL R. WICKERT PAYS TWENTY-FIVE

Dollars for Selling Liquor to Minors—Case Against Kelly Boy Adjudged.

John Kelly, one of the two young men who were arrested on the charge of disorderly conduct by Officer Morrissey, the complaint being that they addressed insulting language to women crossing the Milwaukee street bridge, appeared in municipal court this afternoon and his case was adjudged one month. He denies the accusation as does Henry Delaney who had just joined him when the officer made the arrest and was taken to the lock-up. Kelly is a youth of about sixteen summers and was said to have been under the influence of liquor obtained at Paul R. Wickert's West Milwaukee street saloon. The proprietor has been warned several times not to again offend in this regard and when the matter came to the ears of the police they immediately sent for him. In municipal court this afternoon he pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $25 and costs.

Messdames Rexford and Lewis, Messrs. Rollins, Bladon, Smith and Van Pool.

The recently joined members of the English Lutheran church were last evening the guests of honor at an entertainment in the church parlors. In the early part of the evening the following program was rendered, pleasing all present: Piano duet—the Misses Clara Olsen and Elsie Nygaard; violin solo—F. E. Williams, accompanied by Miss Anderson, accompanied by Miss Olsen on the piano; address—Rev. Frick of Milwaukee; piano solo—Miss Nygaard of Oshkosh. After the completion of the last number a short social session was held and light refreshments were served. The arrangements for the program and repast were made by the Ladies' Aid society of the church.

At a small social gathering some nights ago, the old-fashioned and intimate game of "Truth" was played and some very interesting facts came to light, facts which, if spread broadcast would cause some severe heart burnings, if not worse. Since that time three participants have spent many uneasy hours in abject fear that the fourth, who isn't regarded as very trustworthy, will give something away. Harmless authors, "bridge-whist" and checkers are better. There are no evil after-effects.

Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Crossman, who returned from an extended southern trip Tuesday evening, visited Havana, Cuba, during their absence, remaining there about a week. They spent some time at St. Augustine, Palm Beach, Miami and Tampa, Florida, and on their way down stopped at Monmouth cave, Chattanooga and Atlanta. Their sojourn lasted about two months.

At the home of Miss Tessie Gibbons this afternoon a very interesting piano recital was given by the Misses Ethel Fletcher and Gertrude McGinley. Very difficult selections from Nevin, Borowski, and others were played with admirable execution. Mrs. Charles Mohr sang Frederick Cowen's "Swallows" and "O Dry Those Tears" by Del Rio.

Miss Brinkman and Miss Sue McCrea of Afton were the hostesses at a card and dancing party in Afton last evening at which a four-horse carnival card of Janesville people attended. Cards were played until ten, when a delightful supper was served and later the party danced until three o'clock, driving home after that hour.

Lake's orchestra will play for the grand ball of the Red Rose society the blind institute this evening. The ballroom has been tastefully decorated in red and white for the occasion and a delightful time is anticipated. The Red Rose society is a literary organization conducted on the lines of the old-fashioned lyceum.

Students of Prof. Kehl's dancing school will dance the collation at Central hall from seven to nine o'clock on the evening of St. Patrick's day. This will be followed by a social lasting until one o'clock, which will close the first term. Over seventy attended the dance following the class work last evening.

A most enjoyable party was held at the home of Peter Anderson, 152 North street, Wednesday evening. About twenty-five friends and neighbors gathered and the hours were pleasantly spent around the card tables. Light refreshments were served.

Mrs. C. L. Haynes (nee Miss Jessie O'Neill) and Mrs. Catar left for their homes in Chicago at noon today, after spending a few days with their mother, Mrs. O'Neill, in the opera house flats.

At a meeting of the junior class of the literary department of the University of Wisconsin this week Miss Eureka Kimball of this city was honored by being chosen vice-president.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson J. Russell, who have been making an extended visit in the city, left this afternoon for their home in Rockford.

Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Shattuck of Minneapolis are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Shattuck for a few days.

Ladies' Afternoon Whist club at her home in Forest park today.

Several score of fine horses were exhibited and inspected on the streets and a large crowd of spectators watched the proceedings with great interest.

"DAVID HARUM" AT MYERS' THEATRE

The Philosopher and Horse-Trader Amused Fair Sized Audience Last Evening.

Harry Brown and his support pleased a fair sized audience with their presentation of "David Harum" at the Myers theatre last evening. The catchiness of "David" by his barn-bro in the first act gives that character the opportunity to "unload" the wise saws and modern instances that made the book famous but have somehow lost their flavor and pungency with the passing of time. The method of introducing them is so obviously studied and artificial that they lose their spontaneity, the only element that could make them "go" two or three years after everyone had become familiar with the philosophy of horse-trades and the amended golden rule—"Do others as they would do you, only do it first." Richard Gordon makes an indifferent and somewhat awkward lover but Miss Louise Harbington is pretty and natural and saves the situations. Howard Morley is excellent in the role of "Zeke Sweeney" the usurer and the same may be said of Neil Burton as "Deacon Perkins," and Pliny Rutledge as "Chet Timson," the bank clerk. While the first act drags, the two succeeding ones in which the characters "warm to their parts" particularly make up for this deficiency and the final curtain leaves the audience well pleased with the evening's entertainment. The novel "David Harum" was the widely read book of a day. It presented a single eccentric and interesting character but beyond that possessed little or no dramatic interest or significance.

Parties from Blue Mounds, and Lancaster, Wis., and Blunt, S. Dakota were admirers of McWay Brothers' clowns within the past week.

Last week James Youngclaus's team spilled him out and took a lively run. No damage but a badly scared team and a rather crestfallen driver.

Prayer meeting at George Mawhinney's Thursday evening was well attended.

McWay Bros. on Thursday unloaded a team of bred horses consigned to them, by an Illinois breeder.

The "Star performers" for the "Home Entertainment" March 14th, are preparing for the vent as well as rather untoward circumstances will permit. No offense meant, by the above term. It is hardly expected that a R. M. La Follette of a Miss Fota either will be developed, but the show will be worthy of your patronage.

One of the pleasantest parties of the season was given by Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Nishols on Monday evening, it being the occasion of their sixteenth wedding anniversary.

About fifty invitations were issued to relatives and friends including the Marquette club of Elgin of which Mrs. Nishols is a member, and but few regrets were noticed. The evening passed only too quickly playing progressive euchre at ten tables, until twelve o'clock when a bounteous supper was served. An hour was then spent in social converse after which the guests departed, leaving some pretty mementos and wishing Mr. and Mrs. Nishols might enjoy

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL.

Few People Know How Useful it is in Preserving Health and Beauty.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose.

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gasses and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables.

Charcoal effectually clears and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gasses which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered willow charcoal, and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form or rather in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is, that no possible harm can result from the continued use of them, but one the contrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician in speaking of the benefits of charcoal, says: "I advise Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat; I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cost but twenty-five cents a box at drug stores, and although in some sense a patent preparation, yet I believe I get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets."

many such pleasant anniversaries.

Dr. Fox of Janesville was called on Monday to attend Mrs. Kennedy who is quite ill.

The remains of Dan Kennedy of South Dakota arrived on Sunday morning and were taken to the home of his parents here, and the interment took place on Monday in Mount Olivet. The deceased had been ill but one week of pneumonia, when the "Grim Reaper" claimed him just in the prime of manhood, aged forty-one years. By his sad death six children are left fatherless, a wife has lost a kind husband, a father, mother, brother and sisters are also left to mourn his loss to whom our sincere sympathy is given. His brother, Martin, arrived a few hours before he died and then accompanied the remains and the sorrowing family here.

Patrons in this vicinity of Janesville Route No. 7 appreciate the earnest efforts of the mail man in serving them with mail, as during the snowy weather recently, it was delivered just once in ten days. Some of the farmers in the meantime became disgusted and went to the Leyden for it. How is that for Rural Free Delivery?

PRIZE ADVERTISEMENT CRITICISM FOR WEEK ENDING FEBRUARY 25TH.

Mr. Spohn receives free his choice from three valuable pocket reference books worth $3.50.

Janesville, Wis., Feb. 27, 1905.

Editor of the Janesville Daily Gazette:

Dear Sir—I hand you enclosed an advertisement taken from your paper of Friday, Feb. 24, which in my estimation is the best pulling ad for the week ending Feb. 25. It commands attention: 1st, by its position on the page; 2d, by its border of slanting, parallel lines, which is somewhat out of the ordinary, and 3d, by the prominent figure at the left of the ad. Plenty of room has been given to the descriptions of the values and the descriptions are direct, crisp and concise.

The sentence below the words "Our Clothing Department" is a point scored for the ad, as it is an assurance to the public that it will be pleased in its dealings with the Rehberg Co. There are some minor points I would like to criticize. In the sentence, "Many lots have been closed out, etc." I suggest that the word "for" be substituted for the dash before Saturday. The sentence would then read, "Many lots have been closed out, still, there are many bargains left for Saturday—our final effort to make a special showing for February."

In the paragraph describing the $2.45 shoe is a phrase, "Queen Quality excepted." I think that the writer of the ad ought to have told for what reason that special brand was expected, for being an inferior or superior brand or for what other reason.

NOTE.—The best criticism and the advertisement to which it refers for this week, ending Saturday, March 4th, will be published next week and the successful critic will receive a pocket reference book worth $3.50 free.

DRUGS, BRAIN AND MOTION

OPINION OF A NOTED MEDICAL AUTHORITY.

"Opium or morphine," says Bartholow, the noted medical authority, "produces disorder of brain and motion. It depresses the action of the lungs; produces dryness of the throat, loss of movement in the bowels and lessens the functional activity of the kidneys." From the foregoing it can be easily understood why patent medicines depending on these and similar drugs for their effect are dangerous and expose you to fatal disease. When physicians and hospitals prescribe Father John's Medicine for chronic throat and lung troubles and all rundown conditions, it is because they know that it is pure and wholesome and free from nerve-deadening drugs. It is invaluable as a spring tonic because it nourishes the blood and nerves and drives out the impurities. Its gentle laxative effect corrects the digestion and starts the system working in a natural way. It builds you up and makes you strong. —not a patent medicine.—50 years in use.

PRIZE ADVERTISEMENT CRITICISM FOR WEEK ENDING FEBRUARY 25TH.

Mr. Spohn receives free his choice from three valuable pocket reference books worth $3.50.

Janesville, Wis., Feb. 27, 1905.

Editor of the Janesville Daily Gazette:

Dear Sir—I hand you enclosed an advertisement taken from your paper of Friday, Feb. 24, which in my estimation is the best pulling ad for the week ending Feb. 25. It commands attention: 1st, by its position on the page; 2d, by its border of slanting, parallel lines, which is somewhat out of the ordinary, and 3d, by the prominent figure at the left of the ad. Plenty of room has been given to the descriptions of the values and the descriptions are direct, crisp and concise.

The sentence below the words "Our Clothing Department" is a point scored for the ad, as it is an assurance to the public that it will be pleased in its dealings with the Rehberg Co. There are some minor points I would like to criticize. In the sentence, "Many lots have been closed out, etc." I suggest that the word "for" be substituted for the dash before Saturday. The sentence would then read, "Many lots have been closed out, still, there are many bargains left for Saturday—our final effort to make a special showing for February."

In the paragraph describing the $2.45 shoe is a phrase, "Queen Quality excepted." I think that the writer of the ad ought to have told for what reason that special brand was expected, for being an inferior or superior brand or for what other reason.

NOTE.—The best criticism and the advertisement to which it refers for this week, ending Saturday, March 4th, will be published next week and the successful critic will receive a pocket reference book worth $3.50 free.

W. H. SPOHN.

A ROSE OF NORMANDY

By WILLIAM R. A. WILSON

"Well done, mon brave," cried Tonti. "Just what I should have done myself. A feeble old man—sanguine di Dio! It makes by blood boil to think what my poor old father may be this moment suffering. He incurred this displeasure of the king and mazarin, and was imprisoned while I was away on my first campaign. No word can I get of him. No, not even the place of his imprisonment. Ah! Louis! Louis! you accept the oath of the son to fight for you, to die for you, and yet the nobler father lies languishing in some stony dungeon, his services unrewarded, his very name forgotten. Mon Dieu! and if it were not for my oath and my father's last words to me that in the years to come the king would need the service of every loyal heart and wrist, I vow by Saint Denis, and the finger bone of holy Sainé, Anne I saw at Rome, I would try my sword whether or no it could pierce the stone you wear in place of a heart—Ha! I hear the sound of soldiers on the stairs. To work, Pompon, and may Saint Anthony of Padua carry us through in safety!"

A loud knock at the door and a gruff voice crying, "Open, in the king's name!" He hesitated, then began to sing. A second call, more peremptory than the first, followed.

"Holla!" he exclaimed in a loud tone, "I believe I heard some one at the door. Entrez! whoever you are." And thus speaking, he turned his head and looked over his shoulder at an officer of the guards who stood in the doorway, while the heads of three soldiers were seen behind him.

"Diamine!" he cried in well-feigned surprise. "Soldiers! And led by my old friend Bertrand. Sit here, mon ami, and tell me how you came to find me out."

The officer addressed, as fine a specimen as any in the king's service, gave him his hand and shook it heartily, laughing as he did so.

"Mon Dieu! Captain de Tonti, where did you come from? You were far from my thoughts, mon ami, when I entered. I knew not that you lodged here. I am after different game. I am on a hangman's errand. That accused criminal that escaped in the crowd in the square below is supposed to be hiding somewhere near, and I am detailed to give all the houses in the vicinity a careful search. Have you seen or heard anything of the rascally rogue?"

"Not I," said Tonti. "Neither rogue nor rascal have I seen this day. No one has been here save my servant Jacopo and myself. We two are a jolly company. He has no tongue, hence cannot answer back when I scold him. Wait until I tell him to fetch another glass. Holla! Jacopo!"—then he muttered an Italian phrase that was unintelligible to his companions.

At this the supposed servant arose, and, placing a second glass on the table, retired to his corner without uttering a sound. Bertrand looked at him sharply, then turned to Tonti and said:

"Where got you your wine? From one of your Mediterranean campaigns?"

Tonti noticed his glance, but said nothing until he had carefully filled his friend's glass and then his own.

"Ma foi! You would call him pirate in truth did you but know his history. Some day I shall tell it you. It is too long to begin now. Dame! but I believe I did hear some slight sound on the roof an hour or more ago. I thought it but the scurrying of rats; they are plentiful enough here, God knows. Perhaps, though, he whom you seek is up there. Let your men search the roofs and chimneys while you tarry here with me until their return."

The temptation was strong, and Bertrand, after giving an order to the men, sat down with his chair facing the open door so that he could see if any one appeared in the passageway.

"How like you my lodging?" cried Tonti, merrily. "I regret that the tapestries and hangings are down to be cleaned to-day, while the carved furniture has all been sent to the king's storehouse for a levee to hold next week. Then, too, see what a view! In two directions. Fresh air is healthful, my leech tells me, while the higher up one lives, the nearer Heaven. How now, man, why so sad?" he continued, as he saw that his companion did not enter into the spirit of his talk.

"Ah me!" sighed the burly guard. "Tis the same old tale: a pretty face, an insolent fellow's sneer; a quarrel; a duel."

"Mouidioux!" exclaimed Tonti, in mock horror. "Know you not of the king's edict against duelling? For shame, a guardsman too! and giving way to a burst of merriment, he laughed and beat the table with his fist."

"You would have done the same yourself," replied his friend, ruefully. "Such features! Such eyes! Such teeth! What mischievous glances, and what a slender waist!"

"Come, tell me all about it," argued Tonti, as he realized the necessity of keeping the guardsman interested until the result of his men. "Is she court-bred?"

"No. Mother's a flower from Brittany or Poitou."

"Tall, fair, and gentle-born?"

"Yes, and regal as a queen."

"Her name?"

"I know not; only this: she has the protection of Mademoiselle, the adoration of all true men and the hate and envy of all the court ladies."

"So wondrous beautiful," mused Tonti. "Then the king will get her."

"No. For Mademoiselle loves not her royal cousin overmuch at present, and will see to it that he gains no sight of her. I have seen her but once myself, and that at a distance. 'Tis but few have even that privilege."

"Ah well, mon ami, you may win her yet—Hein! here are your men returning from their rat-hunt empty handed. Remember, though, the proverb we have in Tuscany: 'In buying a horse and in taking a wife, shut your eyes tight and commend yourself to God.'"

Bertrand laughed, and emptying his glass, arose and joined his men, saying in parting: "Don't let your pirate stray far from home, mon cher Tonti, or some one will arrest him on suspicion," and was soon clattering down the stairs.

Tonti waited until they had time to gain the street when he laughed gaily at his companion.

"Parole d'honneur! mon cher, Pompon, but you acted your part to perfection. I shall recommend you to M. Racine for a place in his next tragedy; or perhaps the king would have you in a masque or ballet."

"Your speech, too, was excellent, Monsieur," responded Pompon. "You know that love, bravery, and necessity make men good orators. But tell me one thing, Monsieur. That guardsman called you Capt. de Tonti. Is that your name?"

"Certainment," was the reply. "Henri de Tonti, captain in the king's forces in his Italian campaigns."

"You spoke of a father being in captivity," persisted his questioner.

"Yes, my father, Lorenzo Tonti, was a Neapolitan banker, but siding with the people in a rebellion, he was compelled to flee to France. He proposed to Mazarin a plan of insurance that would fill the empty coffers of the king, if successfully conducted. The Cardinal, anxious to have all the credit himself, carried out my father's plans only in part. Failure was the result, and the anger of a hateful minister and a mortified king was visited upon him. He was imprisoned while I was away on my first campaign. I have searched and pleaded for information of his whereabouts in vain. Thinking I might gain favor with the king and thus influence him to release my father, I have accepted post after post of danger and difficulty and been victorious. But appeals to his justice and generosity have alike been to no purpose. A second trial was made of my father's scheme by Mazarin before his death. They adhered to his plan strictly and were successful. The king's treasury was full enough to commence a foreign war; his minister was rewarded; the brain that contrived and the hand that planned were allowed to remain languishing behind a prison door."

Pompon listened attentively with a strange light in his eyes. When Tonti had finished speaking he said slowly and with a tone of conviction:

"My gray-haired prison friend was your father."

"Ah, Ciel!" exclaimed Tonti, starting up. "The one for whom you slew the jailer?"

"The same."

With one leap Tonti seized his arm roughly, and eagerly inquired: "And he, where is—"

Pompon shook his head sadly. "It was for no purpose, I saved him from a beating, but it was too late. I heard of his death ten days later."

"His death?" cried Tonti in despair. "Yes; starvation."

All energy seemed to depart from the young man's frame and his chin fell upon his chest in grief. "My father, dead!" he murmured. "A prison life; an outcast's burial! How bitter the wage for a faithful servant."

The first shock of his emotion past, he raised his head, while his eye flashed in sudden anger.

"Curse him!" he cried in a voice vibrating with passion. "Curse him! I see it all now. It is not the king's fault so much as his minister's. While Mazarin lived my father had no hope, and when this wine merchant's son succeeded him, he feared exposure, too, and so left him to die. Sanguine di Dio! it is not enough to risk one's life for a king but that his minion crushes one's heart also? Attention, Pompon, and hear my words. Upon this cross, my sword-hilt, I swear by all the saints of Italy and France, by my father's murdered hand and my mother's heart in Paradise, my sword shall never rest nor my arm grow weak, nor yet my brain cease contriving against this hell-bound, child-of-Bebelzebub, devil's spawn—this Colbert. In court, in camp, in the king's audience-chamber, or on the furthermost limits of Ind, I shall still oppose and, if I may, kill him. My strength shall oppose his strength, and my cunning his cunning, until one of us fall. Till then I keep my oath, Mary and Joseph and all the angels."

During this speech, Pompon's features bespoke a lively sympathy and an ardent hatred. Tonti, after finishing, stood silent a moment, with head uplifted and sword raised in mid-air. Then with a sigh he lowered his eyes, and looked kindly at his companion.

"And you, mon cher Pompon, how can I thank or repay you for your service?"

The man's eyes became a softened gray, as though the other's feeling had touched him; as he replied:

"Monsieur forgets he has cancelled all debts by his aid to-day. I am still his debtor."

"Nay, by the rib of John the Baptist, you are not. Pompon, you offered me your friendship. I accept."

And pouring the remainder of the wine equally into the two glasses, he raised his with a smile.

"A toast!" he said.

"To both of us," his companion rejoined.

They touched the glasses to their lips, but before they could empty them a strange voice interrupted them by saying:

"I have a better toast: To M. Tonti and Company."
